

62nd EOQ Congress first communication

Feel the new Quality way!

The next EOQ-European Organization for Quality Congress will take place on June 21st and 22nd, 2018, in Paris. Hundreds of delegates representing countries of enlarged Europa, but also from China, United States, Quebec, etc., will attend the meeting.

Along the two days, all the attendants will share and discover practices, prepare tomorrow challenges, imagine the future of Quality.

Focusing particularly on two topics:

1. Quality, a competitiveness asset for Europe
2. Quality leader, a key role.

France had not been lucky enough to welcome the leaders concerned by this reference event, for twenty years. Number of political, economic, social, cultural, top speakers are due to make presentations during plenary sessions and specific working groups.

'France Qualité' [the 'AFQP-Association France Qualité Performance' network] organizes the event, which will be held in the heart of Paris.

For this very occasion, members of regional and national structures of AFQP intend to present actions of deployment of continuous improvement or risk management processes, successes of private or public organizations.

Within as well as around this EOQ Congress, will be implemented different major forums, dedicated to the importance of Quality-Operational Excellence as a way of competitiveness. And regarding the daily added value associated to the role and skills of the French Quality Community members – in the fields of methodological advice, change management, innovation, monitoring of activities, teams animation, sustainable development.

Large communication, media interaction are expected – dealing with an international audience.

With its partners and those of EOQ, France Qualité, « network of networks », does federate the stakeholders in order to make of this rendez-vous a unique opportunity of underlining the dynamics of performances continuous improvement.
