

PRESS RELEASE

We are very pleased to announce that the European Quality Trademark (EQTM) certificate has been issued to Radece papir nova for the family of products under the R Copy Paper® trademark.

The tradition of papermaking in Radeče has its roots in 1736. Over the centuries they have successfully intertwined technological development, raw material progress that leads to sustainable and ecologically oriented products, changes in market needs with industrial production, and on the other hand with handicrafts which gives special value to the paper from Radeče.

The R Copy papers that have been acknowledged as a European quality product include R Copy Standard, R Copy Premium, Basic Copy, Office Copy, R Copy Color. In the justification for the award, EQO especially pointed out the R Copy Standard antibacterial paper. It is an innovative paper for printing and copying documents, which also provides antibacterial protection against coronavirus.

We consider that this recognition EQTM will strengthen the promotion and sales of R Copy Papers including innovative Antibacterial Paper especially in the period related to the pandemic situation.
